

THE NEXT SENATE.

Facts Relating to the Next Body of That Assembly.

THE SENATORS FROM UTAH.

They Will Be an Important Factor—New Mexico and Arizona May Be of Some Importance if Admitted to the Union—Latest Election Returns From the Doubtful Districts.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—A point that has been overlooked in computing the political complexion of the next senate is the admission of Utah with two United States senators. The act of the last session of congress admitting Utah provides that in March, 1895, the constitutional convention shall be held. On the first Tuesday after the first Monday of that year the constitution is to be submitted to the people, and if ratified and found by the president to be in accordance with the act, he will issue a proclamation admitting it as a state. The act also provides that a representative to the Fifty-fourth congress shall be elected at the same time, the vote is taken upon the constitution; also that state officers and a legislature shall be chosen and that if the constitution is ratified the legislature shall immediately meet and elect two United States senators.

As there is about a month from the time the election is held until the Fifty-fourth congress meets there will be ample time to have all the formalities complied with, and Utah proclaimed a state in time for its senators and representatives to participate in the organization of the next congress. This would make in all 90 senators, and as the next senate now stands, the politics of the Utah senators would cut an important figure. Another probability which arises is the admission of both New Mexico and Arizona, which may be accomplished in time so that four more senators would participate in the organization of the next senate. Bills have already passed the house for the admission of both these territories. The senate committee on territories have reported them favorably to the senate and they are now on the calendar. Senators of both parties have been urging their passage, and it is more than likely that neither party would oppose them because of the effect it would have upon the elections as the people are anxious for admission and would resent opposition by any party to that end. It is, therefore, quite likely that the battle for the control of the senate will yet be fought out in Utah, New Mexico and Arizona next year. The admission of these new states would make a total of 94 senators and any party to control would need 48 for a majority. With the vice president the Democrats could control the senate with 47 senators.

California.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 10.—The election of Budd, Democrat, candidate for governor, is not so certain as it first seemed. His lead over Estee, Republican, has been steadily decreasing as the returns come in, and he is now only 1,094 ahead of the Republican candidate. There are still 323 precincts to hear from, and if Estee's gain continues in the same ratio as they have during the day he may yet beat Budd. The Republican state committee claims Estee's election by several hundred plurality.

Owens' Election Will Be Contested.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov. 10.—The official count gives W. C. Owens, Democrat, 101 plurality over George Denny, Republican, in the Ashland district. Judge Denny alleges that hundreds of Republicans were denied the right to register in Lexington, and that frauds were committed at the election in the interest of his opponent and says he will carry the contest to the house of representatives.

Texas.

AUSTIN, Nov. 10.—Returns from the state show large Populist gains, but Culberson, Democrat, for governor, will have a plurality of 40,000. In the Twelfth congressional district, Noonan, Republican, is elected by 500 majority. The result in the Thirteenth district is close between Cockrell, Democrat, and Gilliland, Populist, with the chances favoring Cockrell. Eleven districts are Democratic.

Nevada.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 10.—Complete returns from 76 in a total of 161 precincts in the state of Nevada give Cleveland, Republican, for governor, 2,526; Jones, Silver, 3,448; Winters, Democrat, 330; Peckham, Populist, 552.

EXPERIMENT STATIONS.

Work to Be Reviewed and Plans Discussed at the Forthcoming Meeting.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—The work of agricultural experiment stations in this country will be thoroughly reviewed and plans discussed at the forthcoming eighth annual convention of the Association of American Colleges and Experiment Stations. The meeting will begin in this city next Tuesday and close Friday and a large gathering of agricultural experts is expected.

Mineral sessions will be held daily. Addresses will be made by Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Dabney, Commissioner of Education Harris and by various experts in agricultural matters. Reports will be received from committees and section chairmen, and all sections will meet for organization and preliminary business. General Stephen D. Lee, president of the Mississippi Agricultural and Mechanical college and president of the association, will deliver his annual address in the evening.

Michael Kelly's Burial.

BOSTON, Nov. 10.—Michael J. Kelly will be buried on Sunday at 1 p. m. by the Boston lodge of Elks of which he was a member. The body will lie in state in Elks' headquarters from 9 to 12 Sunday morning. Interment will be in the Elks' lot at Mount Hope cemetery.

Cardinal Gibbons on Suffrage.

Cardinal Gibbons, in a recent sermon at the Baltimore cathedral, said on the question of woman suffrage:

The church follows the teachings of St. Paul, that woman is equal to man, when he declares that God makes no distinction as to nationality, race or sex. It seems to me fearful to contemplate what would have been the condition of society today if it had not been for the restraining, sanctifying and purifying influence of woman. Woman does not today exercise the right of suffrage. She cannot vote, and I am heartily glad of it. I hope the day will never come when she can vote, and if the right is granted her I hope she will regret it, even though there are some misguided women who think they want it. Rest assured, if woman entered politics, she would be sure to carry away with her some of the mud and dirt of the political contact. She, too, would lose some of the influence which she now exerts.

Extension of Cotton Manufacturing.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 10.—Special reports to The Manufacturers' Record show a steadily increasing interest in the extension of cotton manufacturing in the south. Final contracts have been let for the construction of a mill in South Carolina to cost about $500,000, which will require over 3,000,000 feet of lumber. It will be one of the most complete cotton mills in the country. An Atlanta mill will double its capacity at a cost of about $300,000, while a number of other mill enterprises are being organized.

Report Delayed.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—The statistician of the United States department of agriculture states that owing to the comparatively small number of returns as yet received, in answer to the special circular in regard to the feeding of wheat to stock, the department will not make a statement as to the same on the 10th nor until more extensive returns are received.

British Cruiser Missing.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—The British cruiser Calypso is missing. She parted company with the training squadron to which she belongs, on Oct. 24, during a gale. The squadron arrived at Las Palmas, but the Calypso has not been seen since she dropped the other vessels.

Ten Men Drowned.

HAVANA, Nov. 10.—The Spanish coast steamship Fernando foundered Tuesday morning 30 miles north of Bahia Honda. Ten of her passengers and crew were drowned.

Cabinet Crisis.

BUENOS AYRES, Nov. 10.—The cabinet crisis continues. It is rumored that the president may resign.

Coal Vein Discovered.

WILLIAMSBURG, Ind., Nov. 10.—This town is all excitement over the discovery of a vein of soft coal that is said to be of excellent quality.

Slavery Agitator Dead.

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—Mrs. Rose Miller Avery, a well known anti-slavery agitator in Ohio before the war, died yesterday.

Treasury Statement.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—The cash balance in the treasury yesterday was $105,100,896, gold reserve, $61,904,846.

"LOVE AND LIFE."

The Famous Painting That May Not Hang in the Executive Mansion.

To be hung or not to be hung is the question just at present in Washington.

Those in favor of hanging say that the allegorical painting "Love and Life" presented to the American people by the distinguished English artist, George Frederick Watts, R. A., ought to grace the walls of the executive mansion in Washington. Those who oppose the hanging claim that "Love and Life" is immoral; that representations of what Trilby called "the altogether" ought never to be seen anywhere, but least of all in the District of Columbia, and seem to think that the proposition to hang the painting in the east room of the White House is nothing less than a deep laid scheme to entrap the government into a quasi official approval of indecent art.

So that the great painter's generous gift has stirred up a greater commotion, if that were possible, than the famous controversy which arose about the figures on the St. Gaudens medal.

It is at the door of Colonel John M. Wilson, superintendent of public buildings, that the responsibility is said to lie. No one supposes for an instant that Watts presented the painting to America for it to be carefully boxed up and stowed away in an inaccessible room in the White House. It is hardly likely that the subject of "Love and Life" was altogether unknown to the members of congress, who, last session, accepted the gift in the name of the American people. The painting was exhibited here for several months nine years ago in the Metropolitan Museum of Art. It was among the pictures placed on exhibition last year at the World's fair, and it has been reproduced often enough to warrant the assumption that we are a very immoral people if the influence of the picture is as corrupting as is said.

In addition, the people of the United States, through Secretary Gresham, pledged their word after congress had accepted the gift that it would be hung in the White House, a letter to that effect being written to the artist.

But the picture, according to Colonel Wilson, is not a fit one to be exhibited in the executive mansion. He simply ignored the claims of Mr. Watts to be regarded as one of the first among living painters and stated that until the president gave instructions to that effect he could not think of allowing such a work to be exposed to public view in the rooms of the White House, even though the work in question were intended to form the nucleus of a future national art gallery and would consequently only remain there until more fitting quarters could be secured for it.

The painting which has brought about this discussion is one of the most important works from the brush of the British artist and is a companion picture to his "Love and Death." It represents the figures of a winged youth and a maiden climbing a steep and precipitous ascent. Both figures are nude; but, it is an absurdity to say it, there is not the slightest suggestion of indecency about them. Love, exemplified by the youth, stoops, tenderly helping his companion upon their toilsome journey. His half extended wings protect her slight form from the sun's fierce rays. The picture is an illustration of the truth that love raises life; that an ideal existence is possible only with the protecting care of love. In the picture, where love's feet have trod, flowers spring on the hard, rocky ground, and as the figures ascend the atmosphere becomes more and more refulgent and pure.

Of all Fevers

the worst and most serious is DENGUE or break-bone fever. Called "break-bone" because one's bones are not only racked with pain, but feel as if they were tightly held, as by a vice.

At times one feels that the pain is almost unbearable, and many are brought to death's door by the terrible prostration which follows this grievous complaint.

All persons should know that

Brown's Iron Bitters

is the one medicine which relieves this extreme weakness and brings the patient back to sound health by its well-known medicinal qualities. From the first bottle the improvement is marked and permanent recovery is but a matter of a short period.
